This course examines the visual arts of Europe (and to a lesser extent the United States) from roughly the year 1300 to the present. Although the course is predicated chronologically on ARTH 200, there is no pre-requisite and a student will find ARTH 201 self-sufficient as it introduces and analyzes major artistic monuments that continue to shape our vision and define our world.