Contemporary Chinese and Chinese-American Cinema on Women

This course examines critically the representation of Chinese and Chinese-American women in contemporary cinema from mainland China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and the Chinese diaspora. The changing images of women in a spectrum of genres, by some of the most representative directors, will be studied through the application of major critical concepts in visual culture and cinema studies.

For Info, Email Professor Kuo at jck@umd.edu